Mt. Carmel Catholic Cemetery, Frontenac, Kansas

The following "map" of Mt. Carmel Catholic Cem., Frontenac, Kansas, was not copied from any official map, but is included to show the order in which the sections were copied. The numbers of the sections are NOT official, but show the order in which they were copied. Sections 2 and 3 from the east are divided into a north  $\frac{1}{2}$  and a south  $\frac{1}{2}$  by an east-west road. We used this dividing line to divide the 1st, 4th and 5th sections also, each being divided into a north  $\frac{1}{2}$  and a south  $\frac{1}{2}$ . Note that the north  $\frac{1}{2}$  of Section 1 consists entirely of burials of infants or children, except for about 4 stones, which appear to have been misplaced.

The north parts of Sections 1, 2 and 3 appear to be the oldest part of the cem., and were apparently more widely used in early days, but the south parts contain burials dating back as far, as seen by the following list of oldest burials. It would appear the north  $\frac{1}{2}$  of Sections 1, 2 and 3 were used for single burials, made as order of death occurred, and the other parts of the cem. contain family plots. The north part of Sect. 2 dates, from north to south, from about 1901-1918, and the north part of Sect. 3 from about 1918 on, north to south. These dates are only approximate, as some later burials have been made in these parts also. Each section was copied from south to north.

MT. CARMEL CATHOLIC CEMETERY
Frontenac, Kansas

Located in SE cor. of SW $\frac{1}{4}$  of Sect. 4, Twp. 30 S, Rge. 25 E.

This is on the N side of the road, almost  $\frac{1}{2}$  mi. E of Frontenac.

3-15-1973 Mr. John C. Friskel of the Friskel Funeral Home in Frontenac, who has worked at his business since 1910 and has been an undertaker since April 1913, 60 years ago, is quite familiar with this community and recalled some items of interest about this cemetery.

He believed this cem. was laid out about the turn of the century and several older stones we had found were likely of burials which were moved in later, from other locations.

The original cemetery consisted of the 2 E sections, which we have numbered 1 & 2 (not official numbers, see our small map), and a cross was in the center between sections 1 & 2 where the E-W driveway crosses Sect. 2, near the present location of the tool shed. (The 1906 Plat Book of Crawford Co. shows the cem. as 3 acres, about square in shape.)

Burials were made in a N-S direction rather than the usual E-W position, so that each would face the cross, with the feet nearest the cross. Thus, those buried in the N part have heads to N, and those in S part have heads to S. When the cem. was later enlarged, the cross was moved to the next driveway W, & now stands just N of the center E-W drive between sections 2 & 3. This driveway was platted to the W end of the cem., but later vacated through sections 4 & 5, and these spaces are now used for burials.

Children were buried in the N  $\frac{1}{2}$  of Sect. 1, one after another, beginning at the N side, and a great many have no markers. Many years ago a grass fire destroyed many wooden markers there. Some amputated limbs of miners were also buried in this childrens section. Several unbaptized infants were buried just outside the fence, in what is presently the SE cor. of Sect. 3, Mr. Friskel knew of 2, and thought several others, but no markers existed and this is just a part of Sect. 3 now.

The N  $\frac{1}{2}$  of Sect. 2 was all single graves, buried one after another, beginning at the N side. When it was full the n $\frac{1}{2}$  of Sect. 3 was used similarly, from N to S, all single graves.

The Frontenac City Cemetery corners this cem. across the road to the SE, but it is much smaller.

Off the record, Mr. Friskel said many years ago a man had his leg amputated below the knee and they buried it in the children's section. Some time later he complained of a feeling of big black ants crawling on his limb. He asked his sister to go to Mr. Friskel and have it dug up. She went, but thought best to not dig it up. About 2 weeks later he was still suffering terribly from this feeling, and at that time they dug up the limb and it was covered with.....big black ants!

The Register of Deeds office of Crawford Co. Kans. has no plat for either of the Frontenac cemeteries.
